Instructions:

1. Line up the notches in the triangular feet with the notches on the shield and loosely slide them into place (it may help to have another set of hands to hold the polycarbonate shield).

2. Once the notches begin to engage with each other, a light force will need to be applied to the bottom of the triangular feet. A rubber mallet will work well to help tap the feet tightly in place. Tap the bottom of the triangular feet until they are flush with the bottom of the shield.
